- 1. Purpose. The purpose of this Public Works Technical Bulletin (PWTB) is to announce a new web site and e-mail list service to facilitate information transfer on the subject of Army solid waste management.
- 2. Applicability. This PWTB applies to all U.S. Army facilities engineering activities.
- 3. References.
- a. Army Regulation (AR) 200-1, "Environmental Protection and Enhancement," 21 February 1997.
 - b. AR 420-49, "Utility Services," 28 April 1997.

4. Discussion.

- a. It is important to share information and discuss topics related to solid waste and recycling with your colleagues, in the context of installation operations. The sharing of information saves time and money as it takes advantage of similar experiences among your peers and is a way to take advantage of "lessons learned." Information may be shared up and down the chain of command, allowing participants to keep in touch with policy changes, learn about training opportunities, request information, and voice concerns.
- b. DENIX serves as a central location for the distribution of environmental news, policy, and guidance, both within the Department of Defense (DoD) and in other sectors of public and private life. DENIX informs professionals of environmental activities worldwide and provides them with tools to sustain readiness and compliance with Congressional and DoD requirements.

- c. The Army Solid Waste and Recycling (ASWR) web site (hosted by DENIX) provides an information exchange forum for solid waste and recycling professionals at all levels of the Army. Sections of the site include: documents, meeting minutes, policy, training, announcements, and a calendar. The web address for the site is https://www.denix.osd.mil/aswr. To access this site you must have a DENIX login and password. To acquire these, go to https://www.denix.osd.mil/denix/register.html. The ASWR site is open only to users with DoD logins. A parallel, limited site has been set up for public viewing at https://www.denix.osd.mil/aswr-public.
